

PLES LIBRARY NEWS

Susie Whitaker—District Library Media Specialist

August 2017

Kansas Book Festival September 9, 2017

Be sure to mark your calendars for the 2017 Kansas Book Festival on Saturday, September 9 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. We'll be back in action at the Kansas State Capitol offering programming for young children through adults.

Admission is FREE! We'll have food vendors on site to allow you to enjoy the festival without ever having to leave. The Kansas Children's Discovery Center will be joining us again in the Children's Tent along with face painting and balloon animals. Curious George and Clifford will be on hand to interact with children and for story time on our main stage. We'll have book sales, book signings and musical acts to entertain, as well.

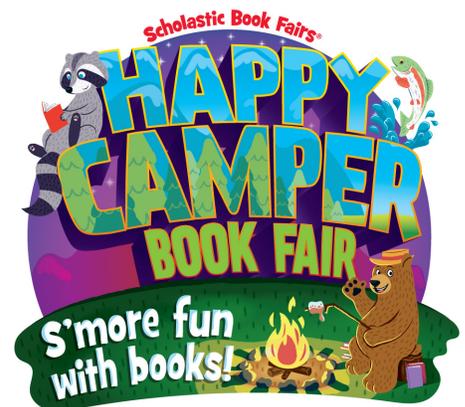

Library Check-out and lesson days

PES		LES
Thursday	CHECK-OUT	Monday
Tuesday	LESSON	Wednesday

Mrs. Whitaker's email address is:

Want to connect with me on Facebook? YEAH! Please check out the District Library page at:
www.facebook.com/perrylecomptonschoollibrariesusd343

Fall Book Fair — PES

GRANDPARENT'S DAY!

11/6/2017— 11/13/2017

Photo Caption

Second Story Headline

Place your stories in order of their importance. For example, your most important story should be at the top of the page. Less important stories, or stories that may appeal to a smaller portion of your audience should be lower down on the page.

Use paragraphs often. A wall of white text makes it hard for the reader to skim a story and find a way to quickly drop in and out of your content. White space gives the user an opening into your information. Don't be afraid to leave spaces open.

You might also designate a consistent spot on the page for lighter, or more editorial content. That way the reader always knows where to look for a certain type of content.

Most successful publications include a mix of content types to satisfy a wide range of tastes. Consider putting your most serious content on the front page, and your lighter content inside.

It's called a story for a reason

Integrate frequent headlines to announce different sections of your story. Consider writing your content in a personal tone, in the same way you might talk to someone sitting across from you at a restaurant.

Include paragraph breaks often

Use paragraphs often. A wall of white text makes it hard for the reader to skim a story and find a way to quickly drop in and out of your content. White space gives the user an opening into your information. Don't be afraid to leave spaces open.

Another Story Headline

Place your stories in order of their importance. For example, your most important story should be at the top of the page. Less important stories, or stories that may appeal to a smaller portion of your audience should be lower down on the page.

Use paragraphs often. A wall of white text makes it hard for the reader to skim a story and find a way to quickly drop in and out of your content. White space gives the user an opening into your information. Don't be afraid to leave spaces open.

Photo Caption

Sidebar Story Headline

Sidebars complement a main article. Use them when you want to keep your main articles direct and information packed, but you still want to share extra or supplementary content.

For example, if your main story is about your new building plans, consider using the sidebar to talk about the history of the land plot, or to tell a story of your first encounter with the property.

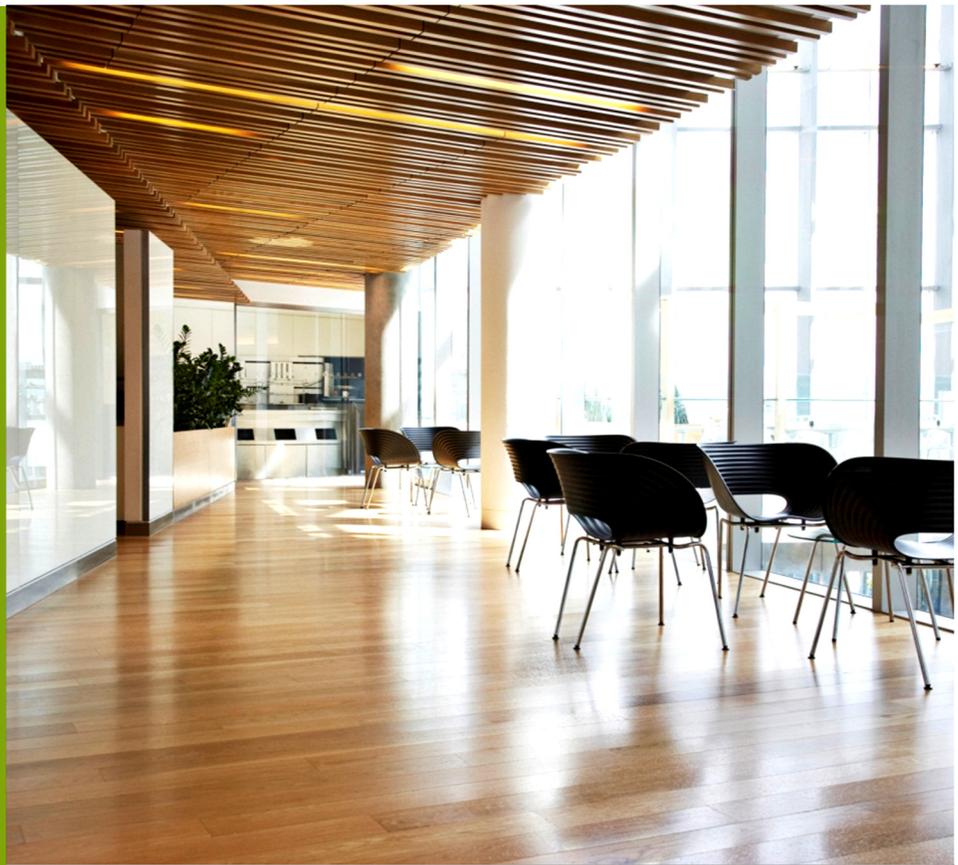

Photo Caption

Another Story Headline

Your headline is an important part of the newsletter and should be considered carefully.

In a few words, it should accurately represent the contents of the story and draw readers into the story. Develop the headline before you write the story. This way, the headline will help you keep the story focused. Examples of possible headlines include Selling Your Home and New Office Opens Near You.

If you have to break a headline into two rows, try to find a natural break in the content. Each line should stand alone so that your readers can easily understand what is in the story even while skimming.

Newspaper editors consider headline writing like poetry. How can you get the reader's attention and draw them into the story in only a few words?

Meanwhile, you don't want to give too much away, or the reader doesn't even have to read the story to understand the content.

Back Cover Story Headline

Use paragraphs often. A wall of white text makes it hard for the reader to skim a story and find a way to quickly drop in and out of your content. White space gives the user an opening into your information. Don't be afraid to leave spaces open.

You might also designate a consistent spot on the page for lighter, or more editorial content. That way the reader always knows where to look for a certain type of content.

Most successful publications include a mix of content types to satisfy a wide range of tastes. Consider putting your most serious content on the front page, and your lighter content inside.

It's called a story for a reason

Integrate frequent headlines to announce different sections of your story. Consider writing your content in a personal tone, in the same way you might talk to someone sitting across from you at a restaurant.

Northwind Traders brings you the world

Northwind Traders
4567 Main Street
Raleigh, NC 02134-0000

Contact Us

Give us a call for more information about our services and products

Northwind Traders
4567 Main Street
Raleigh, NC 02134-0000

(555) 555-0123

email@sample.com

Visit us on the web at www.northwind.com

PLACE
STAMP
HERE